IWMA nominated for CV Magazine's 2017 Health & Safety Award

Hamburg, 9th February 2017. This week the International Water Mist Association (IWMA) was nominated for the 2017 Health & Safety Award. Corporate Vision Magazine – the donor of the award – have established the award to “celebrate the companies and individuals whose dedication and hard work is often overlooked.”

Their aim is to “cast a light on the remarkable firms and individuals whose inimitable ways and innovative thinking has seen them reach incomparable heights and gain remarkable accomplishments.”

IWMA General Manager Bettina McDowell says: “We are delighted to have been nominated. The nomination as such is an honour and we wish all the other nominees the best of luck. We are sure that they are all doing a great job within the health and safety sector.”
