22nd International Water Mist Conference – Conference Webpage now online

Hamburg, 15th May 2023. The 22nd International Water Mist Conference (IWMC) will take place in Copenhagen, Denmark, on 11th and 12th October at the Copenhagen Marriott Hotel. The conference webpage for the event is now online. From 2023 onwards, all pieces of information that delegates and exhibitors need will be available from the IWMA webpage.

A special highlight will once again be the presentation of the IWMA Young Talent Award. In 2023, the prize will go to the author of the best Ph.D. thesis dealing with water mist. The submission is currently being evaluated by the IWMA scientific council. The winner will be announced on 30th June.

From this point onwards, the schedule for this event will look as follow: The IWMA scientific council is currently evaluating the abstracts. Speakers will be notified about acceptance of their submissions by 30th June. The programme will be published not later than 1st August. The early bird period – during which IWMA offers special ticket prices – will end on 15th August. On 6th October, the registration will be closed.

Day one is again applications day and can be booked separately. Day two will mainly be dedicated to sciences and research. An exhibition will run alongside the conference.

In 2023, IWMA (International Water Mist Association) will offer a number of free tickets for students to attend the conference.
