22nd International Water Mist Conference (IWMC) – Copenhagen it is!

Madrid, 10th November 2022. Today, the IWMA president Are Wendelborg Brandt announced that 22nd International Water Mist Conference will take place in Copenhagen, Denmark. The conference dates will be 11th and 12th October. The conference venue will be the Copenhagen Marriott Hotel.

The call for papers will be published on 1st February 2023. Sponsors can start booking their table tops for the exhibition – which will run alongside the conference – from that day onwards. IWMA general manager Bettina McDowell explains: “We will again offer three different packages for companies that want to support the event. Further details will be available from the IWMA headquarter in Hamburg.”

Another important date will be 15th May, which is the final date to submit abstracts and thus apply for a speaker slot. Furthermore, the conference webpage will be activated on this day.

Deadline for submissions to apply for the IWMA Young Talent Award is 28th April. In 2023, this award will go to the author of the Ph.D. thesis dealing with water mist.
